William Howard

Assistant Director – Vero Beach Regional Airport

William Howard is the Assistant Director at Vero Beach Regional Airport. William brings with him a love for the aerospace and aviation industries, a graduate degree in business administration and an understanding of the airport as an epicenter for the community's job opportunities.

In the fall of 2014, Mr. Howard began his graduate program at Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University where he earned a Master's in Business Administration. While active in the graduate program William engaged in an internship at Vero Beach Municipal Airport prior to the establishment of airline service and its name change to Regional. While an intern he worked on the Airports Minimum Standards to standardize and optimize the document. At Embry-Riddle, William participated in several campus organizations such as Unmanned Aircraft Systems Technology, Medical Emergency Disaster Relief, and WIKD 102.5FM. After graduation, he worked part-time at the Vero Beach Airport as a Terminal Attendant until moving to California for full time employment as a management consultant for restaurants. Although the employment opportunity in California was an excellent experience, William found himself missing the aviation industry and the Vero Beach Airport.

Shortly after returning to Vero Beach in 2018 he began his career as the Operations Manager for the Airport handling airline security, project management, capital planning and public relations. As of 2019 William has been promoted to Assistant Director for the Airport. Still handling the aforementioned topics with several others for good measure such as, marketing/advertising, grant administration, and for those familiar with airport management, many more. If you are interested in capital planning, marketing or security at Vero Beach Regional Airport please contact him with the information below.
